

Henny Williams

Essential Bookkeeping Solutions

Henny Williams, owner of Essential Bookkeeping Solutions, is a small business consultant and BAS Agent, and is passionate about small business and helping her clients grow their businesses and achieve their goals.

With the business now in its 19th year, Henny has grown from a sole trader working from home to a successful company with a team of six operating from a dedicated office.

Henny has a wealth of experience in small business management and time management, and knows first-hand the difficulties and struggles of running a business. From her extensive experience working in accounting based roles for 30 years and running her own business, Henny has helped many business owners streamline their day to day processes, introduced innovative online tools to help run their businesses and shown them the power of understanding their financial reports to enable them to make good business decisions.

Henny and her team also look after the ATO compliance work that most business owners hate to do, along with managing day to day finances, debtor payments, cash flow and sometimes just being there for their clients to talk to.

With Henny's effective management skills and lessons learned, she has in recent years enjoyed a positive work life balance that does not compromise the success of her business, which continues to thrive.