

JESSICA SAAD-DE ANGELES

Jessica is a corporate affairs professional with a range of experience across non profit, government, private and publicly listed companies.

Currently working with NSW Health, Jessica has previously worked with Macquarie Group, Medibank, and the University of Wollongong where she started her career.

In 2016 she graduated with an Executive Master of Business Administration with the Sydney Business School.

A long-standing advocate for the Illawarra, Jessica was President of the Junior Chamber International Illawarra, a member of the Wollongong City Centre Advisory Committee, Director of UOW subsidiary UniCentre and Director with the Illawarra Business Chamber.

During her time in these roles she was instrumental in founding programs and events for young professionals to meet and grow, many of which continue on nearly a decade later.
