Co-director | Propel Technologies

Highly Commended | 2025 IWIB Best Small Business

Hi, I'm Nat. I'm Co-Director of Propel Technologies, but my journey here has been far from traditional.

I began my career at the University of Wollongong, working in scholarships for over a decade, I then ran my own portrait photography studio before stepping into the world of IT.

For many years now, I've been helping Illawarra businesses harness technology in smarter, more human ways.

What drives me is simple—making technology approachable and empowering, building strong relationships, and supporting both my team and our clients so they feel confident and stress-free in their digital journeys.

Outside of work, I'm a wife, a mum, a part-time farmer, and a proud Illawarra Hawks fanatic.

I'm also passionate about mentoring the next generation—especially young women in STEM—and giving back to the community that has given me so much.
